It can be hard to sleep
after a distressing experience

After a distressing experience, many people sleep badly or wake up afraid. You are not alone.

Before night

- If there is still a risk, check local warnings.
- Keep a torch nearby

If you wake up afraid

- Notice the safe things around you
- Breathe slowly
- Go to someone you trust

Ask for help early Feelings getting worse, not going away, or making daily life hard? Talk to a health worker. You do not have to wait.

Get help now

In danger, or thinking of harming yourself? Get help now. Ask a health worker or responder, and ask someone you trust to stay with you.

Help near you: _____ (filled in and checked locally)

Look after yourself. Look after each other.

Support is for everyone, including people with disabilities and older people. Ask for large print or more time.

Community wall poster · A3 · Chapter 2 of 6 · English review draft · Not for field distribution. Fictional illustrations, AI-assisted and developed under human direction.